DECEMBER 5, 2009 AT 3:00 P.M. › BASTYR UNIVERSITY CHAPEL, KENMORE
DECEMBER 11 & 12, 2009 AT 8:00 P.M. › SAINT MARK'S CATHEDRAL, SEATTLE

A Cathedral Christmas returns this season with another program of beloved carols and spacious sounds, beginning with Benjamin Britten's medieval-sounding A Ceremony of Carols for treble voices and harp.

Then the holiday mood shifts to our own era with colorful and exciting arrangements of familiar carols by Vaughan Williams, Michael McGlynn, David Maddux, and Jackson Berkey.

Special guest artists: Bells of the Sound.

Don't miss this holiday experience for friends and family!

"The versatile Seattle Choral Company has more strings to its bow than most realize when attending one of its excellent concert performances in Seattle. [Maestro] Coleman has always had an adventurous mind when it comes to programming, and the SCC's latest concert showed it."
